Review of the year 2017: March

A MURDER investigation is launched after the body of Tyler Warmington, a five-year-old boy, was found in a home in Faringdon on March 14. Emma Jackson, 40 from Bromsgrove in Faringdon, was charged with murder in October 2017. She has been remanded in custody and a provisional trial date has been fixed for April 9.

OXFORDSHIRE councils were still split over plans to become one, leading to three versus three – county, South and Vale on one side and City, Cherwell and West on the other – and a referral to the Secretary of State.

A PAEDOPHILE from Oxford was jailed after more than 360,000 images of child pornography were found on his computer. Adrian Sinnott, 51, was sentenced to two years and four months in jail.

WITNEY MP Robert Courts met health secretary Jeremy Hunt to press for a decision over the future of Deer Park GP surgery.

LEWIS Stratford, who caused a deadly crash on the A34 in June 2016, was sentenced to three years and eight months in prison at Reading Crown Court on March 3. He had pleaded guilty to causing the death of Gavin Roberts.

"Helping people to lose weight is the best job in the world", say local slimming consultants

Professional sleeper? Island caretaker? Wine taster? The idea of getting paid to do something we truly love is the holy grail for most of us, however, local weight loss Consultants say they have cracked it after a recent survey of 26,000 people on LinkedIn* revealed that having a sense of purpose is the number one requirement for job satisfaction.

Consultants in a team in Oxfordshire have run their Slimming World franchise for as long as 7 years after losing over an amazing 50 stone between them with the weight loss organisation that changed their lives. Since their incredible personal weight losses, the consultants have made it their mission to help others transform their lives like they have and estimates that they have helped people from their local community lose an incredible 600 stone of weight per month across the 20 groups.

"This really is the best job in the world as far as I'm concerned," says Amy Linsey, the Team Developer of the 11 consultants in Oxfordshire.

"Having all lost weight ourselves, we know what an enormous difference it can make to your life and so being able to help people to change their life like we have really is the most rewarding thing.

"As a franchisee we love being our own boss and are lucky to have the flexibility to continue to enjoy a busy family and social life. We believe that you get out what you put in and that's certainly the case at Slimming World, with the number of people you can help, in the excellent training and support you get and with the generous financial returns. We'd absolutely recommend the role to anyone looking for a rewarding job."

The LinkedIn research showed that people who have a real sense of purpose at work are much more likely to be happy in their job. The research also found that people whose role is based in the local community, who have their own business and who work in healthcare are all more likely to feel like they have a purpose in their work and the Consultants agree, saying they are extra lucky as they have all three!

Slimming World Director of Field Operations, Lisa Salmon, said: "In the current economic climate people might be wary about starting up a business, which is why it's so important to choose an option that has a strong structure and excellent training, and can be set up in your own local area.

"All of our Consultants originally joined us as Slimming World members, giving them an understanding of what it's like to struggle with their weight and all have had success on the plan. Personal qualities are so important and we look for warmth, energy and enthusiasm, good listening skills and, most importantly, a caring non-judgemental nature and a genuine desire to help people lose weight – giving people the confidence to achieve their dreams is our ultimate mission and you don't get a better sense of purpose than that!

"With latest figures showing that around two-thirds of people struggle with their weight, there is an increasing need to provide people with effective and compassionate support to help them make long-term changes to their lifestyle. We provide franchisee-Consultants with in-depth training, an excellent support structure and all the benefits of a trusted household name brand that has been established for 48 years and has become the UK's favourite way to lose weight."

A Slimming World franchise costs from £1,500. For this, Consultants receive Foundation training at the Slimming World Academy on the nutritional foundations of Food Optimising, Slimming World's healthy eating plan, the psychology of weight loss and facilitating healthy lifestyle changes through a range of behaviour change methods. They are also supported with all the equipment they need to run a successful group and a well-trained management and support team. Successful Slimming World Consultants with good group sizes can earn more than £25,000 a year for around 20 hours' work per week.

For more information or to join one of the team's groups in your local area, pop along or visit www.slimmingworld.co.uk/joining-a-group.

"I honestly believe that Colourfence is the best general purpose fencing product on the market today!"

Anna Richardson

Get ready for Winter

Now's the perfect time to replace your garden fence once and for all. Anna Ryder Richardson - Designer and Television Presenter - takes a closer look at Colourfence, the revolutionary low-maintenance system.

It's been ten years since I regularly graced TV screens helping transform people's living spaces with MDF and stripped floorboards. Recently it's been more "celebrity muck out" than "celebrity make-over" as I took up the challenge of owning my own Wildlife Zoo in Tenby. In this time I've learnt quite a lot about fences and having researched the various options for my own benefit I thought I would share my knowledge with a wider audience.

The latest design processes mean there is now a tremendous array of fencing products for you to choose from, constructed from a variety of materials. Each has its own attributes, and ultimately it can often come down to a matter of personal preference. For me, there was one unique system that stood out as providing the best balance between price and functionality which eradicates fencing problems for good. Or for at least 25 years. Colourfence. For quality, value, longevity, aesthetic design, this fencing system ticks all the boxes. Fencing made for the 21st century that will transform the look of your garden which is supplied and fitted by a company whose customer service is as good as the product.

In my view, Colourfence is the 'Rolls Royce' of fencing – just without the exclusive price tag. What's more, it's guaranteed to stay in place in up to 130mph winds and is virtually maintenance free.

To find out how the experts from Colourfence might help you, I suggest you call 01865 582 171 and speak to their team.

Colourfence: The ultimate garden fence?

For many Colourfence is perhaps the ultimate choice. For the last 15 years it's been widely used across the UK and has steadily gained a reputation for its quality. By using the highest specification Colorbond steel in the fence structure itself, complemented by the highest level of customer service from accredited Franchisees, Colourfence is now regarded by many as the premier fencing solution in the market. Immune to the rot and resistant to the weather that so quickly effects wooden fences, Colourfence has none of the drawbacks of wood - plenty of additional benefits and what's more it's better value!

Gardeners' Questions

Q Wooden fence panels just don't seem to last - is there a storm resistant alternative?

A The Colourfence system has been tested under cyclonic conditions to withstand storms with wind gusts up to 130mph. Unlike your wooden fence - once professionally installed - Colourfence really will stay up!

Q No matter what I treat my wooden fence with - nothing seems to prevent it rotting or looking shabby for very long.

A Treating your fence is a thankless and expensive task. It's also a losing battle. Wood simply wants to rot. Colourfence offers a low-maintenance alternative where by an occasional wash down will keep it looking great for up to 25 years! GUARANTEED!

Head into Winter - with COLOURFENCE

The only garden fence you will ever need!

Every gardener knows that it pays to plan ahead. If you are one of the thousands of people who watched helpless, as winter winds battered their garden, it will not be a surprise that garden fences are almost always the first casualty. Whether you have previously patched, painted or simply prayed to keep your fence going, there's no escaping the fact that timber fences will always fall victim to the weather. With Colourfence you can put your garden straight once and for all. Colourfence is scientifically tested and cyclonically rated to ensure when professionally installed, it can withstand wind gusts of up to 130mph. Once it's up - it stays up and is guaranteed to look good year after year. Safe, extra secure and hassle free - you will NEVER need to paint it, treat it or patch it. An occasional hose down will be all you need to do to keep it in top condition for years to come. In fact the system is so durable that Colourfence will guarantee† their fencing to last at least 25 years. Available in a range of colours to suit any garden, with or without decorative trellis, the highly skilled installation team make short work of their dramatic transformations. Your sad old fence will be efficiently cleared and replaced, leaving you to get back to enjoying your rejuvenated garden. Pricing is just as straightforward and equally attractive. Simple steps homeowners can take now to protect their assets

Head of April King Legal Paul King explains why some homeowners are doing too little, too late to protect their hard-earned assets.

Paul King, Head of April King Legal

1. Care Cost Fees

A lot of people are still unaware that if they need care in later life, their assets will be means-tested by the local authority to help pay for these services. This goes back to the Community Care Act 1990, which came into force in 1993. If someone requires social care in later life, the local authority will look to use the assets of a person until they get down to a lower limit of £14,250, when the local authority will take over the fees.

Paul knows this all too well, after experiencing this personally. "My own grandmother sadly passed away recently at the age of 92. My grandfather had died many years earlier and left everything to her.

When she needed care in the last six years of her life, because my grandfather had left everything to her, the house and all the estate were counted in the local authority's means test.

Our clients tell us, 'We've worked hard all our lives, why should the local authority get it all?'

Just as she died, she had gone down to that lower limit of £14,250 – and that's all that her children inherited."

There are many myths about the steps people can take to protect their assets from being used like this. The main one is that a parent should simply sign their house over to the children now, so it won't be taken into consideration for means testing. That's just not true.

Local authorities will actually look to see if you've 'deliberately deprived' yourself of an asset by giving property away, going back over any period in time.

Sometimes people think if the gift is made seven years prior then the house is safe.

This is not so as the seven-year rule only applies to Inheritance Tax and not local authority care.

The solution is for couples to simply not leave everything to each other in the first place.

Paul continues: "What my grandfather could have done is leave his half of the house in trust to his children, stating that they couldn't have it while his wife, my grandmother, was still alive. We call these Property Trust Wills.

If my grandfather had left his half of the house in trust to the children then when my grandmother subsequently received care in her later life she would have only been means tested on her own half of the house, but my grandfather's half would have been safe.

Why should he have to contribute his half when he didn't receive any care?

The important factor is that couples need to act in advance. Once one party dies or loses mental capacity, through a stroke for example, they are no longer in a position to do this legitimate and straightforward type of planning.

It is therefore important for couples to act now even if they may not foresee care fees being an issue."

Paul goes on to explain a further important point. Most clients he sees are surprised to learn that remarriage usually cancels a will and makes the new spouse next in line to inherit, ahead of their own children!

Protecting your half of the house in this way, he suggests, ensures that your children ultimately inherit when the survivor dies.

"Had my grandmother remarried after the death of my grandfather the whole estate could have passed sideways out of the family," says Paul.

It's another important reason for home-owning couples to upgrade to a Property Trust Will.

2. Bloodline Trust Wills

The majority of April King's clients have already made standard "mirror wills" with other firms before approaching the firm. A mirror will is when a couple leave everything to each other on the first death, then to the children when the second partner dies. But modern family life means these type of wills leave a lot to chance.

Explains Paul: "If I have a mirror will leaving everything to my wife and she remarries or goes into care after my death then either the new husband or the local authority are likely to inherit most, if not all, of my estate ahead of my children.

Even if my children are named in my mirror will it is by no means certain that they will inherit anything.

Once again, this is because a remarriage would cancel the will my wife had previously made with me and make the new husband next-of-kin. This often comes as a big shock to my clients who had perhaps thought that all was in order and that the family bloodline would one day inherit.

The same is true for thinking that their children and/or grandchildren will one day benefit under a mirror will. If any of your children should die leaving everything to their husband or wife and that son-in-law or daughter-in-law should then remarry, then your grandchildren would be the ones to lose out under the line of inheritance.

Worse still, someone else's grandchildren would be in line to receive the benefit of all your years of hard work!

I've experienced this in my own family and I'm sure most people have had similar experiences or heard of someone who has. Bloodline trusts will give greater protection to your children."

Paul continues: "These things can be avoided by having a bloodline trusts will. Under these types of wills your children have complete control and access to the inheritance they receive from you but give added protection from the twists and turns of modern family life. The wording in these wills states that any money left over on their demise must pass to any children born of them – your grandchildren."

3. Lasting Power of Attorney

Paul explains how people often get confused thinking that, because they have made a will, their executors can also deal with assets if there is illness, stroke or some other form of incapacity while they are still alive.

"Everyone should actually have two documents – a will that deals with their estate on death, and a lasting power of attorney that deals with their estate during their lifetime," he says.

The lasting power of attorney is a relatively new introduction and is divided into two parts – one deals with finance, the other deals with health and welfare. In many ways it's similar to a passport; a document that's registered now and one which can be physically handed to the attorneys should the need arise. It allows the attorneys, perhaps the children, to deal with banks and pension companies etc should their parent become incapacitated, but also to deal with matters such as where the parent should be living and how they receive care. Your attorneys, again perhaps your children, must legally act in your best interests at all times. You can choose a number of attorneys to act, either jointly or independently, and April King advises on the various options available.

Couples are often surprised to discover that even joint bank accounts can be frozen until the bank sees sight of a lasting power of attorney document

Having a lasting power of attorney removes the burden on children should ill-health happen further down the line. It helps a family deal with bank accounts and so on during a parent's lifetime and ceases on death. Crucially, you have to complete a lasting power of attorney while they are still in good mental health.

If someone becomes ill through say, a stroke or dementia, this option is lost and the family would have to apply for a order from the Court of Protection – a drawn out and expensive process. It is therefore a good idea for clients to plan ahead and remove any future burden from the family.

Once again, all adults should be thinking of this, particularly where there are children or a business involved. It's not just something to think about when you get older, that's the challenge for us.

People think 'I'm not ill, why do I need to make a power of attorney?'

But they're missing the point. This is a document that has to be done in advance. Paul adds: "The next part is to appoint the attorneys, your children. Don't forget, your children can be the executors of your will and attorneys as well. The lasting power of attorney remains in place until you die unless you want to cancel it. Once it's registered, you don't have to worry if you then develop some debilitating illness. A burden has been removed from the family at an already difficult time."

Who Cares?

Reading aloud: the gift of time

There are many different reasons why the elderly give up reading. Common barriers include increasingly poor vision, the lack of strength to hold up a book, dementia, and other medical reasons. Losing the ability to choose a book or newspaper and become absorbed in the words on the page can leave those who have enjoyed reading all their lives feeling both isolated from the real world and the fictional worlds they could discover and discuss.

Giving someone the gift of time, sitting and reading to them, can therefore bring real joy, and comfort too, as it often also reminds people of the warmth and love of their childhood, their mother's arms or a bedtime story with Father.

Researchers have found that being read aloud to can stimulate memories and imagination, improve mood and concentration and also increase social interactions. There's something about sharing a book, and sharing the experiences with the characters in the book, that brings a closeness to a relationship, and whilst the neutrality of piece of prose means it is neither demonstrative nor demanding, it can still trigger deeply hidden recollections and unexpected conversations.

For family members or people living with dementia in particular, a Christmas visit can be difficult when their memory may be severely curtailed and their responses erratic. Reading aloud can be a simple and relaxing way to spend time just being together.

For those living with dementia, hearing poetry, whether it is new or recognised from the past, seems to elicit a better response than prose: poems are generally read slower, have an inherent rhythm, and every line is full of condensed and evocative description.

If you don't quite know where to begin, there is a book called A Little, Aloud (published by Chatto and Windus; £9.99) which includes short poems and sections of prose that are especially suitable for reading aloud. They cover a wide variety of topics and have been chosen to share: each piece has is marked with the approximate time you'll need to read it aloud and accompanying thought-provoking notes.

One particularly lovely poem is It Was Long Ago by Eleanor Farjeon which begins:

I'll tell you, shall I, something I remember?

Something that still means a great deal to me.

It was long ago.

A dusty road in summer I remember,

A mountain, and an old house, and a tree

That stood, you know,

Behind the house. An old woman I remember

In a red shawl with a grey cat on her knee

Humming under a tree.

She seemed the oldest thing I can remember.

But then perhaps I was not more than three.

It was long ago.

Another book to share at this time of year and stimulate reminiscence in the older age group is Dylan Thomas's A Child's Christmas in Wales. The illustrations drawn by artist Edward Ardizzone whose pictures will be instantly recognisable to anyone who shared picture books as a child in the 1930s-1950s, reminding the reader of simpler times that have long past. Thomas's recollections of an old-fashioned Christmas are described in poetic language through the eyes of a small child with gentle humour and descriptions as rich and warming as traditional plum pudding.

Skoda Kodiaq SE L 1.4TSi 150PS 4X4 DSG

In seventh heaven

By Tony Yates

I was starting to get a little worried that we were not seeing any new seven-seaters in the world of motoring anymore – so, when I heard Skoda was going to introduce us to the new Kodiaq, which just happens to have the extra seating I'm talking about – I was very happy indeed, because for a large family or people who pretty much act as a taxi driver for everybody else in their life, this must have been some very welcome news indeed.

Of course being seven-seated does not mean it's slow and like steering a boat – in fact it's actually more like a limousine on wheels. Ok, it's not an actual limo – but it does have an interesting array of equipment and storage for all those times when a big car really is the saviour of the day.

Power and efficiency

My test car was fitted with a 150PS 1.4-litre petrol engine; its performance is good, but not what I would call 'racy'

– but it does get a move on once you get into the power band of that turbo. 0-62mph comes in around 10sec – and you can expect fuel consumption figures to easily reach 37-40 mpg combined. Top speed is also around 119mph and because it's a Skoda – you get all the usual energy saving devices such as; Stop/Start etc.

On the road

Firstly – I am so impressed by how the Kodiaq dealt with the lumps and bumps on our roads. Secondly, this a 4x4 – which basically means it can to a certain degree handle off-road driving – although, I doubt you will ever feel the need to drive it around in the mud like a hooligan.

Into the corners it also feels very controlled and steady – and when pushed to its limits, there were no nasty surprises and nothing unexpected happened. But, and it's a tiny one – the Kodiaq does have a small amount of gearbox lag (DSG) in Normal mode. If I was you, I would keep it in sport mode pretty much all the time. Apart from that small niggle – the Kodiaq is rather good and even better with its excellent 4X4 capabilities – what more could you possibly ask for.

Safety and technology

Inside, looks great, and it has a nicely trimmed cabin which is something Skoda has worked on a lot over time. Rear leg room is also massive thanks to the movable rear seats configuration. The Kodiaq will easily accommodate seven people or large family with ease. The quality and feel inside the cabin is also very good thanks to Skoda's excellent build quality.

The level of standard equipment on the SE L version starts with dual zone air conditioning, 19" Sirius alloy wheels, cruise control, black roof rails, heated front seats, ABS, EBV, MSR, ASR, EDS, DSR & ESBS, LED daytime running lights, LED rear lights, rear parking sensors, electronically operated boot, KESSY keyless system, an umbrella in the front doors, Alcantara

• A new seven seater which offers something for every need upholstery and 7 airbags. This is just a small amount of what you can expect to find on what I consider to be a very well equipped car where everything you will ever need is on hand to make life just that little bit easier.

To sum up

The Kodiaq is perfect for anyone looking for a family vehicle that has rugged looks, exceptional safety features and some very clever technology – meaning it is more than capable of handling most off-road situations, slippery roads or rough ground with ease. Plus the occasional shopping trip.

Sport review of the year 2017

New clubs help Eddie tee up a better 2017

Golf

EDDIE Pepperell's year ended with a first ever nomination for Sportsman of the Year at the 2017 Oxfordshire Sports Awards to complete a remarkable turnaround for the Frilford Heath member.

Pepperell, 26, had a disastrous 2016 and was fighting to rescue his European Tour card towards the end of the year after being forced to return to Q-School.

But the Abingdon-based pro went on to secure a top-20 finish at the US Open in June and enjoyed his best ever season on the European Tour to end 2017 back on track.

It has been a year of risk-taking that has paid off for Pepperell who credits changing clubs as one of the main reasons for his upturn in fortunes after parting company with TaylorMade earlier in the season.

Pepperell is well known off the course for his articulate blogs and credits a new driver that suits his backspin for his 16th placed finish at the US Open, his best finish in a Major championship.

He said in November: "In hindsight, I was so incredibly naive when it came to the technical aspects of equipment.

"As soon as we added backspin to

Eddie Pepperell, left, helps open a new state-of-the-art facility at Frilford Heath in November with Nick Pink, CEO of England Golf the driver, and put a different, higher spinning ball in play, the low and left shot pretty much disappeared, and my confidence gradually returned.

"This change was 100 per cent the reason behind my top-20 at the US Open.

"I was unafraid to hit the driver that week on a course that demanded good driving, in an environment that was also quite challenging."

The addition of a new caddie, Mick Doran, midway through the year also made an impact on the Abingdon man's performance.

Third-place finishes at both the KLM Open and the Portuguese Masters immediately followed the change in personnel.

Pepperell recorded seven top-10 finishes in eight events in September and October to finish 42nd in the Race to Dubai.

Earlier this month the world number 135 added another feather in his cap after flying straight from the European Tour season finale in Dubai to open a new state-of-the-art high-performance centre and shop at his home club.

Strong finish with Red Bull

MotoGP

FOREST Hill's Bradley Smith survived another testing season in the MotoGP to finish strongly in his first campaign with newcomers Red Bull KTM.

In what was an unpredictable 2017 season for most teams, Smith produced a string of inconsistent performances that almost saw him dropped in favour of KTM tester Mika Kallio.

Losing to Kallio during a wildcard outing at the Red Bull Ring in August did not do Smith any favours before KTM issued a statement in support of the 27-year-old that led to an upturn in form.

The rookie KTM tandem of Smith and Pol Espargaro did not manage a single podium finish this season, accumulating eight DNFs in total.

It was an encouraging maiden season for KTM and Smith enjoyed a home race at Silverstone in August having missed out in 2016 with a knee injury.

Smith managed a season-best seventh finish on the grid at a rain-struck Motegi in October, one place ahead of Espargaro.

The MotoGP standings reflect the season the pair have endured with Smith ending on 26 points and three places below Espargaro in 21st.

Smith would have been hoping for better in his first year with KTM and slipped four places lower in the standings than his position at the end of the 2016 season.

The Oxford-born rider is under contract with KTM for next year and has been reassured he will continue to partner teammate Espargaro in 2018.

Stars shining brightly at top of the tree after uncertain start

Ice hockey

THE future for table-toppers Oxford City Stars did not look quite so bright in May when the Oxpens Road team briefly found themselves without a league to play in.

After finishing the 2016/17 season in fourth place on a respectable 28 points, the club were left in turmoil over a proposed new league structure.

The decision to switch from the previously unanimously agreed twin conference system to a single league of 11 or 12 competitors over the summer put the future of a number of teams in jeopardy.

The English Ice Hockey Association eventually scrapped its plans for a new conference system after the Stars and a number of other teams were forced to withdraw due to the increased financial strain.

Replacing outgoing head coach Simon Anderson with Ireland's Kenny Redmond in June steadied the ship ahead of the team's move from the National Ice Hockey League (NIHL) South Division 1 to South 2.

Veteran Alan Green announced his retirement in March after 200 games for the Stars, amassing a total of 355 points during multiple spells with the Oxford team.

The club retained key players such as local player Joe Edwards and stalwart Andy Cox, who re-signed for his 16th season with the club, while adding prolific goal scorer Matt Lawday to its roster to breathe new life into the Stars.

The move to the South 2 division has seen the Stars rocket up the league after making a flying start to the 2017/18 season, producing a number of dominant displays.

Winning 12 of their 13 games so far this season, including a run of 10 straight wins, has seen the team head to the top of the division and five points clear of their nearest rivals at time of print.

Kamil Kinkor has enjoyed a fine season notching up a tally of 23 goals so far this season.

The club will be hoping to keep up their impressive form for the remaining 13 games in South 2 to pick up their first league title since the 2013/14 double winning season.

Oxford RL made history in May by playing in Canada's first professional rugby league match

From blues to gold as teams merge

Other sport

OXFORD RL ended the season in 13th, one place higher than their 2016 campaign with eight points and four wins in the Kingstone Press League.

But the Blues will not compete next year after the Rugby Football League accepted their proposal to merge with University of Gloucestershire All Golds in November to form a new Bristol-based team.

There was disappointment for Oxford University's men's and women's teams in the annual Varsity matches at Twickenham as the women failed to cross the Cambridge try line in a 24-0 defeat while the men suffered a second successive loss, 20-10.

In American Football, expectations were high for the newly promoted Oxford Saints who finished mid-table in SFC 1 Central.

But the lack of an established quarterback and heavy losses in the latter stages of the season saw chances of making the play-offs slip away.

Veteran driver Jason Plato equalled last season's record of one win to finish 12th on 146 points for the Subaru squad in the 2017 British Touring Car Championship.

In Formula E, Alex Lynn, who lives in Grove, became only the third driver in the sport's history to start a debut race from pole position to force his way into contention when teams consider their line-ups for next season.

Thrills and spills for F1 teams

F1

TWO of Oxfordshire's Formula 1 teams suffered contrasting seasons, with Williams failing to look likely to finish above fifth in the constructors' championship, while Renault showed some signs of progression.

Jolyon Palmer failed to build upon the momentum from a positive 2016 season, with Nico Hulkenberg earning 43 of Renault's 57 points.

Palmer was finally dropped in October, ending weeks of speculation and was replaced with Carlos Sainz, with the Enstone-based team going on to clinch sixth in the constructors in the last race.

Reliability issues dogged Renault after making changes to its engine over the winter and will be pleased to have finished sixth, though they might have pushed Williams harder.

Williams never looked like breaking into the top four as Force India finished over 100 points ahead of the Grove-based team.

After Valteri Bottas was released from his contract, Brazilian racer Felipe Massa reversed his decision

Nico Hulkenberg did what he needed to do as his Renault side clinched sixth place in the final race of the season in Abu Dhabi to retire at the end of last season and re-signed on a one-year contract to partner rookie Lance Stroll.

Canadian teenager Stroll enjoyed a decent maiden season, becoming the second-youngest driver to achieve a podium place when he finished third at the 2017 Azerbaijan Grand Prix.

Stroll continued to break records when he became the youngest driver to start on the front row of a race at the age of 18 years and 310 days at the Italian Grand Prix in September.

It took until the third last race of the season for Stroll to place ahead of Massa, who had one of the best qualifying scores of 2017, with the Brazilian ending his 15-year career two races later.

The biggest test for Williams next year will be finding the right replacement for Massa. At time of print, Robert Kubica was rumoured to be the most likely to fill the seat.

Banbury-based Haas, F1's youngest team, endured a tough sophomore season as they finished eighth. Drivers Romain Grosjean and Kevin Magnussen saw their former team Renault leapfrog them in the standings.

Grosjean managed to get the best out of the Ferrari hardware and claimed sixth place in Austria, while Magnussen peaked with seventh in Baku.

Puritans slip as they struggle to maintain form

Banbury United

BANBURY United end the year some way off the Evo-Stik Premier play-off spots, despite winning their first five league games.

An excellent showing in the 2016/17 season saw the Puritans unfortunate to finish in sixth place, missing out on the play-offs by just five points.

A 1-0 defeat over Easter to an in-form Leamington side quashed any lingering hopes of promotion to the National League South.

Only Leamington, who finished second, had a better defensive record all season, but it was a lack of effectiveness in front of goal that ultimately halted their chances of back-to-back promotions.

The reverse has been true of Banbury this season who have already conceded 32 goals in less than half the number of games.

Banbury began this season on fire with five straight wins in the league before their early promise evaporated.

November proved to be a lean month for Mike Ford's men who failed to win throughout the whole of November, picking up four draws in seven games.

Banbury will be hoping that the recent signing of 27 year-old Portuguese left back Nuno Felix from last season's champions Chippenham Town will sure up a leaky defence that has kept one clean sheet since October.

A reshuffle of the board saw former player and manager Phil Lines appointed chairman following the resignation of Ronnie Johnson.

Banbury head into Christmas in ninth place in the league on 35 points, nine behind Tiverton Town in the last play-off position.

Tears and cheers as City narrowly miss cup glory

Oxford City

VICTORY over a Football League side for the first time in their 135-year existence made it a history-making 2017 for Oxford City.

The red-letter win came in a superb 1-0 FA Cup first round win at League Two side Colchester United in November.

Matt Paterson netted the winner that day and the striker found the back of the net again as the Hoops took on Notts County in arguably the biggest match in the club's history the following month.

The National League South side, whose magical cup run earned them a payday of more than £100,000, were seconds away from having their name in the third round draw for the first time, only to be denied by a 95th minute County winner.

The dogged Hoops lost 3-2 but twice fought back from behind to level the tie through Rob Sinclair and Paterson in front of the BT Sport TV cameras.

The winner came from Oxfordshire-born Jorge Grant, whose goal deep into injury time snatched away any hope of a money-spinning replay.

It was last-gasp heartbreak for the part-timers – and boss Mark Jones admitted the devastation made some of his players cry.

City were praised for their performance that day but the Court Place Farm side have had contrasting fortunes in the league.

Jones turned the team's fortunes around having taken the reins on a temporary basis in December 2016 but had to stomach a turbulent second half of the season, racking up nine wins, four draws and 10 defeats.

His side finished strongly however as City picked up four wins in the final six matches.

But any idea that this would act as a catalyst for the following season proved misguided.

Oxford, who appointed Jones permanently over the summer, only won two of their opening 11 games, a 7-1 thrashing at Dartford a particular low point.

The Hoops slipped into the National League South relegation zone but the FA Cup run eventually translated into league points.

City, a point and place above the relegation zone with a game in hand, head into the new year on a six-match unbeaten run.

Cup highs and lows amid league battles

Other football

NEWLY-PROMOTED Thame United have enjoyed life in the Evo-Stik South East division, finishing the year three points off the play-offs.

A 9-0 thrashing of Henley Town on the final day of last season saw Mark West's team overturn a seven-goal deficit to leaders Bracknell Town, ensuring United's promotion from the Hellenic Premier as champions.

In the West division, North Leigh have failed to replicate their 2016/17 form that saw them miss out on the play-offs by a place and five points.

They have endured an indifferent season so far as The Millers struggle for form, leaving them 14th.

They did, however, win the Oxfordshire Senior Cup, beating a young Oxford United side 2-1 in April.

Kidlington went on a rampaging six-match winning streak from January into March as they enjoyed a mid-table finish in their debut season in the Central Division (now renamed the East division).

The Greens were switched to the West division over the summer where they have impressed, sitting five points off the play-offs heading into Christmas.

Didcot Town had their 15 minutes of fame in the FA Cup – although it was nothing like when they hosted Exeter City in the first round in 2015 – when their 5-0 hammering at the hands of Billericay Town was broadcast on the BBC in September.

The Railwaymen are ninth, three places higher than their finish last season and level with the last play-off spot.

After a disappointing 2016/17 campaign ended in relegation for the Alfredian's, Wantage Town have adjusted to life back in the Hellenic Premier.

The south Oxfordshire side are third in the table, 12 points off leaders Highworth Town as 2017 comes to an end.

Sport review inside: F1: Season of change as Massa bows out | Golf: Pepperell's strong showing | Ice hockey: Stars end year at top of tree

By George Welch

WHEN Pep Clotet took the reins of Oxford United in the summer, the little known Spaniard promised to build on the foundations of the previous manager.

The former Swansea City and Leeds United coach replaced the popular Michael Appleton in July after the U's boss of three years made the surprise switch to become assistant manager at Premier League Leicester City.

United finished the 2016/17 campaign strongly, narrowly missing out on the League One play-offs by four points, so there was plenty for Clotet to build on.

Yet the Catalanian has done well to build a competitive squad following the loss of key players during the summer, including top scorer Chris Maguire (Bury, free), towering centre back Chey Dunkley (Wigan, free), captain John Lundstram (Sheffield United, £500k) and wizardly winger Marvin Johnson (Middlesbrough, £2.4m).

Clotet has been true to his word and, despite a slight rebuild, has used his predecessor's success as a platform to instil a more passing and pressing focused style.

Under the guidance of Appleton, the new year began with Oxford in mid-table and fighting on three fronts.

In the four months between January and April, United jam-packed their schedule with 29 matches.

In that time Appleton's side propelled themselves up the League One table and continued their form in the FA Cup and the Checkatrade Trophy.

His team built on the previous year's cup success and made it to the FA Cup fifth round for the first time since the 1993/4 season, convincingly beating Championship winners-elect Newcastle United 3-0 on the way.

The 'Yellows' 62-game season included Wembley heartbreak for the second season running and the campaign ended with the play-offs tantalisingly out of reach.

After negotiating the group stage, Southend United, Scunthorpe United, Bradford City and Luton Town were swept aside en route to the Checkatrade Trophy final.

But for the second season running Appleton's side crumbled on the biggest stage, losing 2-1 to Coventry City

From Michael Appleton to Pep Clotet, the U's have had a good 2017 despite losing in the Checkatrade final at Wembley.

Appleton shocked fans by leaving for Leicester and a three-man judging panel selected the inexperienced Clotet as his replacement.

Despite a lack of consistency and losing to lower opposition in the FA Cup and Carabao Cup, the 40-year-old has made a decent enough start.

Hopes of a third successive Wembley appearance remain – they play Charlton Athletic in the third round of the Checkatrade Trophy on January 9 – and, heading into Christmas, United were ninth in the League One table, four points off the play-offs.

In one of the more bizarre transfer stories of the summer, Oxford United boss Pep Clotet recruited this 23-year-old to drive his players on this season. But the new addition hasn't added extra firepower to United's forwards or solidified their backline – instead, it's keeping the players on their toes in training. Clotet bought the 1994 L Reg Rover Metro in August with the 'worst trainer' in the first team to drive it for seven days as punishment.
